Professor Steve Ngo is a practitioner of international arbitration and dispute resolution where he has acted as international consultant and arbitrator. He is Adviser/Foreign Representative of the Shanghai Arbitration Court of International Shipping, Adviser of Qinzhou Arbitration Commission, Guangxi and Chairman of Arbitration & International Dispute Resolution Practice Group of Asean Legal Alliance, a private network of law firms each of the ASEAN countries coming together to offer a seamless delivery of legal service across a diverse cultural, geographical and legal backdrop.

He has advised public and private entities not only on post-dispute matters but negotiation, mediation and dispute management. Over the past decade, he has focused on India, Indonesia and China, three key growth economies of Asia and South East Asia. He has been involved in oil and gas, energy, investment, joint venture, telecommunications, shipping, mining, financial services, international trade and engineering. Professor Ngo has extensive experience dealing with parties from all over the world, bringing strong cross-cultural proficiency to international dispute resolution processes and strategizing. In the course of work, Professor Ngo has developed experience and understanding in dealing with the private and public sectors, in South East Asia, South Asia, East Asia, Europe, the Middle East, Russia, North Africa, North America, South America and Australasia.

Professor Ngo has been involved in matters involving arbitration rules of, among others, CIETAC, LMAA, SAC, ICC, SIAC, PCA, LCIA, UNCITRAL, ICSID, HKIAC, BANI and KLRCA. In addition to international commercial arbitration, he has been consulted on potential investor-state arbitrations, evaluating cases against and for the state party. He is also an Arbitrator at the Thailand Arbitration Center, Qinzhou Arbitration Commission, Luoyang Arbitration Commission and Beihai Arbitration Commission.

He also has vast experience in design and delivery of arbitration professional training programmes and postgraduate courses throughout Asia. With previous professional experience in the higher education sector, Professor Ngo has special interest in the pedagogy and methodology of education. In addition to lectures and talks at academic institutions in the region, he has also lectured on dispute resolution at the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Resources Indonesia, Guangxi Lawyers' Association, Singapore Law Society, Malaysian Bar Council, Taipei Bar Association and the Permanent Court of Arbitration, The Hague.
